Music Sandwiched In

January starts another season of WSPL's lunchtime concert series, Music Sandwiched In.

We begin this season on the 13th with the Christa Joy Band, an acoustic folk trio who blend honest lyrics and simple melodies with sublime results.

Then, on the 27th Jerry Chapman returns from North Carolina with another set of acoustic modern rock for fans of Jack Johnson, Tom Petty, and The Beatles.

JANUARY 2012

Drum Away the Blues: The Music and Rhythms of Native North America

With Craig Harris

The Music of Indigenous America is incredibly diverse, vibrant, and relevant far beyond the reservations of the American southwest. It not only includes traditional pow-wow drumming and flute melodies, but, extends to rock, jazz, country, folk, pop, dance, reggae, and hip-hop. This 90-minute multimedia presentation includes a video survey of Native American musicians and a participatory percussion celebration of contemporary native music.

This month on the Art Wall: Howes Brothers Photographs

A collection of photographs of West Springfield Homes dating back to the early 1900s.
